"L'orchestre des campus de Grenoble" is an amateur orchestra, principally composed of school and university students from Grenoble. To ensure the quality of the orchestra is maintained, it is run by professional musicians.

We would like to set up a musical exchange programme with another amateur orchestra in Europe, through which we would work together in choosing a musical repertoire for performances in both France and in our partner orchestra's country. The principal objective of this collaboration is to allow these young, amateur musicians to meet each other and to share an interest in music.
